

The "adress" attributes represent a link between the class where it is, and the Adress class. But, for a better visual confort, those will exclusively be represented by this attribute.